COMPLETE WORKS OF LORD MACAULAY

New Cambridge Edition. With an Introductory Essay by HENRY D. SEDGWICK, JR., and an extended Bibliographical Sketch, by W. DAWSON JOHNSTON.

THE HISTORY OF ENGLAND, in five octavo volumes, with a full index, $10.00.

ESSAYS, in three octavo volumes, with an index, $6.00.

MISCELLANIES, including Speeches, Letters and Poems, in two octavo volumes, with an index, $4.00.

The set, 10 vols. 8vo, $20.00.

This edition of Lord Macaulay's Works appeals strongly to readers who wish his writings in thoroughly handsome library volumes, edited with scholarly care. These are printed from large, beautifully clear type, on paper of high quality, and bound in simple but handsome style. Each of the volumes has a frontispiece portrait, the ten including two of Macaulay and eight of notable Englishmen who figure in Macaulay's pages.

A CENTURY OF AMERICAN DIPLOMACY

Being a Brief Review of the Foreign Relations of the United States, 1776–1876. By JOHN W. FOSTER, former Secretary of State for the United States. 8vo, $3.50.

"Every important event in our diplomatic history is reviewed, its course followed, and its results stated. In doing this the author brings out many features drawn from original sources, and invests the affairs of diplomacy with new interest. The work is a distinct contribution to political history and American literature."—Indianapolis Journal.

RUSSIA AND THE RUSSIANS

By EDMUND NOBLE, author of "The Russian Revolt." 12mo, $1.50.

"Mr. Noble is master of the art of writing a short book on a great subject. It is not an easy art; yet, in a time of infinite curiosity in matters social and political, its exercise is needful for the millions who have no leisure for detailed study. In little more than two hundred and seventy pages Mr. Noble presents to us the chief vital facts of Russian history from the beginnings of the Slav movement eastwards to the occupation of Port Arthur and Talienwan; and not only the facts but their inter-relations."
—London Daily News.

A SOLDIER OF VIRGINIA

By BURTON EGBERT STEVENSON. Illustrated. Crown 8vo, $1.50.

A strong historical romance of the time of Braddock's ill-fated expedition to Fort Duquesne. The hero is a soldier under Washington, and has a long experience of perils and hardships.

Comprehensive and Authoritative

CHINA and the ALLIES

A Most Important Work

By A. HENRY SAVAGE LANDOR

Famous as a traveller and the author of In the Forbidden Land

With 269 Illustrations.

5 full-page Chinese prints reproduced in their original colors and illustrating phases of the uprising, including various forms of torture devised by the Chinese for the punishment of foreigners.

16 full pages in tints, illustrating important scenes in the war.

48 full pages in black and white, from photographs and drawings by the author.

200 text illustrations, mostly from photographs taken by the author, and a few from drawings.

AN impartial and masterly review of the recent military operations in China and the events preceding them. Mr. Landor was in Tientsin when it was taken, entered Pekin with the relieving forces, and was the first European to enter the Forbidden City as a guest by the side of the Russian General.

Holding no official position, and bound by no official etiquette, he was perhaps the only eye-witness at liberty to report the whole of what he saw. Mr. Landor's knowledge of the German, French, Italian, Chinese, and Japanese languages proved of the greatest value in enabling him to obtain information at first hand.

In two large octavo volumes, each 6 x 9 inches in size, with a total of 136 chapters and 876 pages.

Affords a comprehensive view of the whole Chinese difficulty, tracing the anti-foreign movement to its original sources, and following the progress of the allies to their settlement in Pekin pending the diplomatic finale still in abeyance.

Shows the development and the true nature of the Boxer movement by translations of the most interesting Boxer circulars and posters, as well as by the official records of the allied powers.

Explains the use of hypnotism by Buddhist priests for the purpose of fanning into fury the rage of the people against the foreigners.

Compares the allied forces in action and inaction in vigorous unsparing phrase, presenting word pictures whose impartiality and truth are self-evident.

Describes the American soldier in camp and action, with details of engagements in which our soldiers bore themselves with conspicuous bravery.

Gives a Diary of the Siege of Pekin with a wealth of incident and picturesque description that floods the scene with new light.

Criticises Sir Claude Macdonald's diplomacy and General Chaffee's military tactics.

Discusses looting impartially, and picturesquely describes the effect of greed upon the soldiers of different nationalities, including our own.

Throws a new and impartial light upon the much vexed missionary question, and shows that Chinese hatred of foreigners, contrary to recent statements, embraces Americans as well as others.

A Popular and Dramatic Presentation of the History of a Great People

The Story of France

From the Earliest Times to the Consulate of Napoleon Bonaparte

By the Hon. THOMAS E. WATSON

Two vols., cloth, medium 8vo, gilt tops. Per set, $5.00

Opinions of the Work.

"Mr. Watson—'Tom Watson, of Georgia,' is widely known . . . but not many people know him as a scholarly student of history and as a writer of unusal grace and force. Yet it is in these directions, very certainly, that his best gifts lie. . . . His style is terse, simple and direct. In narration he is rapid and graphic. His diction is strong, and his presentation of his events and of social conditions is always picturesque and often dramatic. He has wit, humor, and much of that rhetorical fervor which in oral utterance we call eloquence."—GEORGE CARY EGGLESTON, in the New York World.

"The story is told with a vivacity that makes it as interesting as a romance. The reader is lured on from chapter to chapter by the desire to learn what comes next, until he is brought to the last years of Louis XV., when the French sky was already overcast with the gathering clouds of the Revolution, and Mr. Watson closes his first volume with a paragraph that makes the reader anxious for the next volume."
—The Plaindealer, Cleveland.

"A noble and brilliant contribution to history. The story of the growth of the spirit of liberty, brilliantly told by Mr. Watson, will certainly achieve a more popular success than any piece of historical writing of the past quarter of a century."
—Editorial in the Atlanta Constitution.

"We wish we could devise some way to persuade a million Americans to read this book thoughtfully. . . . We advise you to read this book. Get it at the library if you cannot afford to buy it. Buy it if you can. It should be read by your children as they grow up. It will be a permanent, valuable possession in any household. It is the best history that has ever been written by an American. It is truthful, graphic, and truly philosophical."—Editorial in the New York Journal.

"Notwithstanding all the ponderous volumes that have been written and published concerning the rise and fall of French absolutism, it is a matter of congratulation to Americans of the present day that one of their number has seen fit to retell the story in his own inimitable way, and from the American point of view. On the appearance of the first volume of Mr. Thomas E. Watson's "Story of France," that writer's journalistic qualities of style attracted perhaps more attention than any other feature of his work. The power to picture events vividly, to make the historical narrative move rapidly, is the disclosing trait of Mr. Watson as an historian; and in his second volume, covering the period from the end of the reign of Louis XV. to the consulate of Napoleon, this trait is even more strikingly exemplified than in the earlier volume. The 1800 pages of Mr. Watson's two volumes represent a literary labor such as few American writers of this generation have been ready to undertake."—The Review of Reviews.

The publishers would be glad to send circulars and more complete information on application.

COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY IN THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Columbia University includes both a college and a university in the strict sense of the words. The college is Columbia College, founded in 1754 as King's College. The university consists of the Faculties of Law, Medicine, Philosophy, Political Science, Pure Science and Applied Science.

The point of contact between the college and the university is the senior year of the college, during which year students in the college pursue their studies, with the consent of the college faculty, under one or more of the faculties of the university.

Barnard College, a college for women, is financially a separate corporation; but, educationally, is a part of the system of Columbia University.

Teachers College, a professional school for teachers, is also, financially, a separate corporation; and also, educationally, a part of the system of Columbia University.

Each college and school is under the charge of its own Faculty, except that the Schools of Mines, Chemistry, Engineering and Architecture are all under the charge of the Faculty of Applied Science.

For the care and advancement of the general interests of the university educational system, as a whole, a Council has been established, which is representative of all the corporations concerned.

I. THE COLLEGES

Columbia College offers for men a course of four years, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Candidates for admission to this college must be at least fifteen years of age, and pass an examination on prescribed subjects, the particulars concerning which may be found in the annual Circular of Information.

Barnard College, founded in 1889, offers for women a course of four years, leading to the Degree of Bachelor of Arts. Candidates for admission to the college must be at least fifteen years of age, and pass an examination on prescribed subjects, the particulars concerning which may be found in the annual Circular of Information.

II. THE UNIVERSITY

In a technical sense, the Faculties of Law, Medicine, Philosophy, Political Science, Pure Science, and Applied Science, taken together, constitute the university. These faculties offer advanced courses of study and investigation, respectively, in (a) private or municipal law, (b) medicine, (c) philosophy, philology and letters, (d) history, economics and public law, (e) mathematics and natural sciences, and (f) applied science. Courses of study under all of these faculties are open to members of the senior class in Columbia College. Certain courses in the non-professional faculties are open to graduates who have taken the first degree. These graduates, holding the Bachelor's degree, in the ordinary progress of study become candidates for the advanced degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy. The degree of Master of Laws is also conferred for advanced work in law done under the Faculties of Law and Political Science together.

III. THE PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS

The Faculties of Law, Medicine and Applied Science conduct respectively the professional schools of Law, Medicine, and Mines, Chemistry, Engineering and Architecture, to which students are admitted as candidates for professional degrees on terms prescribed by the faculties concerned. The faculty of Teachers College conducts professional courses for teachers, that lead to a diploma of the university.

1. The School of Law, established in 1858, offers a course of three years, in the principles and practice of private and public law, leading to the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

2. The College of Physicians and Surgeons, founded in 1807, offers a course of four years, in the principles and practice of medicine and surgery, leading to the degree of Doctor of Medicine.

3. The School of Mines, established in 1864, offers courses of study, each of four years, leading to a professional degree, in mining engineering and in metallurgy.

4. The Schools of Chemistry, Engineering and Architecture, set off from the School of Mines in 1896, offer respectively, courses of study, each of four years, leading to an appropriate professional degree, in analytical and applied chemistry; in civil, chemical, electrical, and mechanical engineering; and in architecture.

5. Teachers College, founded in 1888 and chartered in 1889, was included in the University system in 1898. It offers the following courses of study: (a) graduate courses leading to the higher diploma or to the secondary diploma; (b) professional courses, each of two years, leading to diplomas for teachers and supervisors in kindergartens or elementary schools, or for specialists in Domestic Art, Domestic Science, Fine Arts, Music and Manual Training; (c) a collegiate course of two years, which if followed by a two years' professional course, leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science. Certain of its courses may be taken without extra charge by students of the university in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy.

NEW BOOKS

BOLINGBROKE AND HIS TIMES

By WALTER SICHEL.

With 2 Portraits in photogravure, and index. 8vo, pp. 2-550. $4.00.

 This volume embraces the whole public career of the first Viscount Bolingbroke and the complete reign of Queen Anne. It is an attempt to present from original sources, and with the fresh material specially to hand, some adequate portrait of a great genius and of the crowded background in which he moved.

"A thoroughly scholarly and discriminating study of the statesman of Queen Anne's time who has been over-abused and over-praised beyond any man of his age. Incidentally the book is a brilliant pen-picture of the England of Queen Anne."—Outlook, N. Y.

CHARLES WILLIAM FERDINAND, DUKE OF BRUNSWICK: An Historical Study, 1735-1806

By Lord EDMUND FITZMAURICE.

With map and 2 Portraits. 8vo, Net $3.50. By mail $3.60.

"... Presenting to us a lifelike picture of an enlightened and competent German statesman who witnessed the stormy period of Joseph II., the end of Frederick the Great, and the beginning of Napoleon."—Morning Post.
